Current Progress at the Site

EPA and EPA's contractors conducted a Facility information gathering visit on September 12, 2007. Currently, EPA is still gathering information from the Facility regarding any Corrective Action that may or may not be needed as a next step.

Site Description

GE Fanuc Automation is an industrial control manufacturer. This Facility manufactures printed circuit boards and uses a number of chemicals that become listed hazardous wastes in the waste stream. In 1991, 22 Solid Waste Hazardous Units (SWMUs) were identified at the Facility. Many Units are no longer in operation and a number were clean closed under VA Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) authority.

Site Responsibility

The U.S. EPA, Region III Office in Philadelphia is evaluating the Facility for Corrective Action under Facility Lead Agreement.

Institutional Controls

To be determined.
